Western Life Enhancement Foundation

The Western Life Enhancement Foundation of Kalispell, Montana commissioned artist Lane Timothy in 2005 to paint the original "Flying High" 36" x 48" oil on canvas saddle bronc rider.

Western Life Enhancement Foundation will be offering a limited number of fine art giclees for sale on canvas and watercolor paper. The prints will help to raise funds for the Western Life Enhancement Foundation as well as help to preserve our American Heritage, the American West and Rodeo. Western Life Enhancement supports High School Rodeo and Youth Equine Programs.

Lane Timothy is a Montana Native, who at a very young age discovered his love for art. Upon graduation from Hellgate High School in 1992, Lane won the Charlie Russell National Art Scholarship. After attending the University of Montana, Lane excelled in one of the largest graphic design firms in the world. His passion for painting brought him back to Montana to pursue his craft. The artist's unique style molds the classic masters with his own modernism. The resulting work captures both a natural beauty and a one-of-a-kind artistry that is unmistakably Lane Timothy. His wide range of subject matter includes Western and Asian influenced topics, sports and nouveau twists on the works of European masters. "My art is heavily influenced by my life in the west." —Lane Timothy
